VOL. XV. MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 11, 1919 No. 29

PLOT OF "MIKADO" GIVEN IN OUTLINE

Japanese Opera Gives Promise Of Being a Success

Decapitation Of Flirters Is Central Thought Of Story

Of all that brilliant series of light operas in which Gilbert and Sullivan collaborated, "The Mikado" is perhaps the most tuneful and generally enjoyable. Many of the other operas in the series center upon some special or temporary phase of English life, but the appeal of "The Mikado" is far wider. The humane and progressive Mikado of Japan, having at heart the moral uplift of his people, issues a decree condemning to death by decapitation any man who is caught flirting. Whereupon his astute subjects elevate to the post of Lord High Executioner a prisoner named Ko-Ko, who is already under sentence of death—"for", they say, "who's next to be decapitated, cannot cut off another's head until he's cut his own off!"

Now the plot begins. The Mikado requires Ko-Ko to execute somebody. Ko-Ko makes a bargain with Nanki-Poo, a "wandering minstrel" (who is really the disguised son of the Mikado) to consent to be executed in a month's time, provided that, during this month, he may live in matrimony with Yum-Yum, Ko-Ko's betrothed. The lovers, however, find an obstacle in their path when told that the bride of a man who is beheaded must herself be buried alive. Nanki-Poo gives up hopes of Yum-Yum, but agrees to be buried just the same. The tender-hearted Ko-Ko is now in despair, till he hits upon the shrewd expedient of certifying to the death of Nanki-Poo without actually performing the act.

The Mikado now arrives, attended by Katisha, an elderly flirt in love with Nanki-Poo. It was to avoid Katisha's advances that Nanki-Poo fled his father's court in disguise. The certificate of death is handed to the Mikado. On reading the victim's name, the Mikado informs Ko-Ko and his two accomplices, Pitti-Sing and Pooh-Bah, that by beheading the heir apparent to the throne, they have committed a crime punishable by death. The Mikado now withdraws, and Ko-Ko informs Nanki-Poo of the new turn in affairs. Nanki-Poo proposes that Ko-Ko woo and marry Katisha. Then Katisha will cease to hold Nanki-Poo guilty of flirtation with her, and he can safely throw off his disguise and marry Yum-Yum. Ko-Ko undertakes the uncongenial task and succeeds, whereupon all is wedding bells and, at least for Nanki-Poo, happiness

A bare outline of the plot cannot, of course, give any idea of the charm of the chorus, where probably the main interest of the audience centers. Catchy solos, like "A Wandering Minstrel I," and "Tit-Willow," racy topical songs, scintillating trios and quintettes charm the ear of the music lover now as they did thirty years ago, while the grand climactic effect of the choral which forms the finale of each act has seldom been surpassed even in a grand opera. Add the witchery of kimonos and fans, and the exotic air imparted by shaven heads, paper parasols and scimeters, and we get an ensemble that promises huge enjoyment to such people as are wise enough and fortunate enough to secure seats.

Director Bissell, who has the work in charge, reports that the results of

VICTORY COMMENCEMENT PLANS MOST ELABORATE IN MIDD'S HISTORY

Major General Edwards to Review Midd Service Men on Saturday ---Will Receive Honorary Degree of Doctor of Laws

Other Guests: Brig. Gen. Foote, Gov. Clement and Major Axton. Dr. Fosdick Will Speak—Jones and Wright Expected to Fly

The 119th Commencement of Middlebury College to be celebrated June 21, 22 and 23, promises to be one of the most memorable Commencements that has ever occurred on the hill. It is to be a victory come-back and the exercises include a number of unusual features in commemoration of victory in the tremendous conflict in which Middlebury men acquitted themselves with such signal distinction. Prominent among these features are a review by Major-General Clarence R. Edwards, leader of the Yankee Division from Leicheprey to the Argonne, of Middlebury College men who participated in the great war; a memorial service for Middlebury men who made the supreme sacrifice, at which the address will be given by Rev. Charles E. Hesselgrave, '93, Senior Y. M. C. A. Secretary of the Yankee Division; and the Commencement Luncheon at which addresses will be delivered by Brigadier General Stephen M. Foote, ex-'81, Middlebury's ranking officer, Major John T. Axton, Chaplain, U. S. A. and others.

Friday afternoon the festivities of Commencement will be opened with a baseball game between Wesleyan and Middlebury. Wesleyan this year has made a good record on the diamond, and only recently took the strong Dartmouth nine into camp. Before a Commencement crowd the Middlebury boys will no doubt put up a brand of baseball that will bring joy to the hearts of the Blue and White alumni and our "Victory Commencement" promises to be ushered in with a baseball victory over our Middletown rivals.

On Saturday at 10:30 A. M. General Edwards with Governor Clement, the Trustees, and alumni who are veterans of the Civil War, will review Middlebury soldiers, sailors, and those who have participated in war work in civi positions, from the steps of the Mead Memorial Chapel. Following the review, the procession will enter the Mead Memorial Chapel where General Edwards will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws and respond in a brief address.

The meetings of the Associated Alumni, the Alumni Athletic Association and the Alumnae Association will be held immediately following the conclusion of the exercises. At 2:00 p. m. the Phi Beta Kappa society will gather in the Old Chapel and the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees will be held at te National Bank.

The entertainment of the evening will be the comic opera "The Mikado", rendered by a chorus of Middlebury students under the leadership of W. A. Bissell. A more detailed account of the play is given in another column of the issue.

The Baccalaureate Service Sunday morning will be held in the Mead Memorial Chapel and at 4:30 P. M. a Memorial Service for the Middlebury men who gave their lives in the war will be held in the Mead Memorial Chapel, at which Dr. Charles Hesselgrave will deliver the address.

Monday will be Commencement Day with the graduating exercises in the Congregational Church, where Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, one of the most brilliant orators of America, will be the principal speaker. The Commencement Luncheon which will follow, in the McCullough Gymnasium will be a notable affair, with after-dinner speeches by General Foote, Chaplain Axton, and others.

The Senior Ball to be given in the Gymnasium at 9:00 P. M. will be the concluding event of the week, and bids fair to prove a fitting "finale" for the Victory Commencement of the class of 1919.

There is a possibility that "Casey" Jones '15 and "Stan" Wright '19, both formerly in the Air Service may give a flying exhibition during the week.

MIDD TEAM LEAVES ON FINAL TRIP

Will Play Worcester Tech, Conn. Aggies and Trinity

Coach Keefe's Charges Expect To Play Good Ball After Week's Practice

The Middlebury 'Varsity baseball team left this noon for its last trip of the season. The team opens to-morrow in Worcester against the speedy Worcester Tech. nine, journeys to Storrs the following day where the Conn. "Aggies" will be met, and on Saturday Trinity will be played at Hartford.

"Ike" Hulihan seems to be the logical choice to work against Worcester as the Mass. team is probably the strongest of the three colleges to be met. If "Ike" twirls on Thursday, Elmer will probably take the mound

GOLLNICK SINGLES TENNIS "CHAMP"

Wins Easy Victory From Brautigam in Finals

Shows Reversal Of Form After Losing First Set

"Al" Gollnick '22 of Milwaukee, Wis., won the college single tennis tournament last week by conquering Karl Brautigam '22 of South Oronge, N. J., in the final round. The match went four sets, Brautigam taking the first 10-8 but falling down badly in the last three sets in which he failed to win a single game.

The match was started on Tuesday afternoon but owing to the oppressive heat and the long drawn out rallies in the first set, only two sets were completed before supper and the contestant agreed to play off the remaining

SUCCESSFUL TRACK SEASON CLOSES

Broad Jump, Discus and Mile Records Broken Twice Each

Past Season Has Been The Largest Track Season in Midd's History

Middlebury College closed the largest and in many ways the most successful track season in her history on May 30, with a defeat at the hands of Massachusetts Agricultural College, by the close margin of one point, the score being 59 to 58.

The entire season was marked by close victories, and the out-come in every meet was in doubt until the finish of the final event. The schedule brought Middlebury against the fastest teams that she has ever faced, and the results clearly show that she was not out-classed. Three college records were set in the last two meets.

The season opened under the most discouraging conditions. The late spring made it impossible for the team to get into any kind of shape by outdoor work, and as Midd has no indoor track, the men were forced to do their training in snow-storms and cold rains. Due to the shortening of the college year, both last year and in 1916-17, practically no track material had been unearthed during that period, so that Coach Brown started the year under a great disadvantage. Only two veterans reported around which to build up a team. These were Captain Jones '19 and Tatro '19. Although the ability of Jones to place in the distance events and of Tatro to secure points in the shot, broad and high jumps had been proven in past track meets to Coach Brown goes the entire credit of solving the problem of picking and coaching a team that won victories.

One of the greatest features of the 1919 track season was the establishment of an Interscholastic Meet during Junior Week, open to all prep schools of New England. The meet was a success in every way. Eight schools were represented from Vermont, New Hampshire and Massachusetts, with about fifty entries. This was a fine start, and next year fully a hundred men should participate. The only fault found was that the meet came too early. If Junior Week had been postponed about two weeks everything would have been perfect. Rutland High sent a well balanced team and easily ran away with the meet. The score stood—Rutland, 77 1-3; Keene and Woodstock—20 each; St. Johnsbury—12 1-3; Middlebury—4; and Newport—1-3 points. All the men went home well satisfied with their entertainment, and with a greater interest in Midd. Bellerose of Rutland was easily the individual star of the meet, scoring eight firsts and will bear watching as a future track man.

Midd's first 'Varsity meet on May 2 against the first Tufts team ended in a hard won victory. Tufts took the lead in the first event and gradually drew away from our team until it looked like their meet. Then came the discus and hammer where Midd scored heavily, and finally won when Hebard furnished the feature of the meet with a broad jump of 22 feet 1 inch, a new college record. The score was—Midd 63½—Tufts—62½.

On May 10 Jones, Hebard and Potratz represented Midd at the Eastern Intercollegiates held at Springfield, Mass. In a field of mud and a track covered with water and with a cold

A Sermon

"Ye are living Middlebury bulletins read and known of all sub-freshmen." If the above text is not in your Bible write it on the fly-leaf, with due apologies to St. Paul, and read it often. It ought to be a part of the spiritual equipment of every student of Middlebury when he leaves the college hill for home and summer vacation.

To put the same thought in another way, the only really effective advertisements of a college, are the men and women who represent it to the world. Just prove the truth of this statement out of your own experience. There were doubtless many influences which led to your decision to come to Middlebury, but what one was the strongest? Was it the long list of attractive courses which appeared in the annual catalog, or the photographs of hall or dorm in the illustrated bulletin? Probably not. It was a person; someone who by qualities of character or personality, by ability or intellectual attainment, made you feel that Middlebury is a college that stands for worth-while things and turns out a worth-while product. Just as that person meant Middlebury to you so you will mean Middlebury to the boys and girls you meet who are looking forward to college in the fall, and to their fathers and mothers. What sort of an advertisement are you going to be this summer for the "college on the hill?" It is a bigger question than you had supposed, isn't it? Think it over.

Prospects for a Y. M. C. A.

Will Middlebury have a college Y. M. C. A. next year? Should she have one? Probably some men have been wondering where the old organization which existed last year is now. The fact that we have no Y. M. C. A. in operation now, is due principally to the abnormal conditions brought on by the S. A. T. C. During the fall term, when the college was managed by the military authorities, the national association maintained a secretary here and consequently no local organization was needed. After the disbanding of the S. A. T. C. and the general confusion which resulted, it was not thought wise to attempt a college association this year. The old organization had lost practically all of its officers and it is doubtful if any organization, which could have been started, would have received the support of the student body.

But the fact that we have no Y. M. C. A. this year is no argument against having one next. We shall then find conditions normal, and the enrollment probably the largest in the history of the college. The prospects for a strong, vital organization next year are, therefore, excellent. There is no question as to the value of such an organization to the student life. Practically every college in the country has one, and testifies to its worth. The only thing we need here at Middlebury to assure a successful Y. M. C. A. is the realization on the part of at least a certain per cent of the men, of its value. We have been inclined to regard any effort to maintain an association here, as an effort to waste time in useless discussion and quibbling over ethical questions, that have little relation to the main current of student life. That attitude toward the Y. M. C. A. has changed in other colleges and it will change here. We are forced to take the "Y" on the basis of what it has actually accomplished. It can and does influence not only the religious, but every phase of college life, and that influence is a wholesome one. Middlebury men are already waking up to the fact that they are the losers if they do not support such a organization in the college, whose welfare is nearest their hearts. Those who attend the conference at Northfield will return in the fall with a higher regard of the usefullness of the proposition and a determination to give it their support. And those who cannot attend will catch something of its spirit rom others and feel their responsibility in the matter. With these acts in mind can we be sceptical as to the prospect for a Middlebury College Y. M. C. A. next year?

What Others Think

OPEN TO ALL

This department aims to be an absolutely impersonal current schedule of campus opinion upon subjects of intense interest. Communications intended for publication must be signed by the author but the name will be withheld upon request.

As To German

To the Editor of The Campus,

A number of students have inquired of me as to what German is to be given next year, and may I say through your columns that in common with the other New England colleges, there is no curtailment contemplated in the amount of German to be offered; the usual number of courses will be given, provided there is a sufficient demand to warrant giving them. In answer to inquiries for scientific German, I would say that such a course is among those listed for next year, and this course also contemplates meeting the needs of those students who wish a working knowledge of German in history, philosophy, music, etc.

I am being asked almost daily as to what I think of the future of the study of German, and it may not be amiss if I try to give in brief compass how I view the situation. Of course German must not have the vogue it did in certain sections of the country, when it was used for purposes of propaganda. Loyalty to America demands that, as one nation, we have one language as the basic language of instruction and that be the English language. But I am unable to see why we should not abhor the crimes of German militarism and at the same time appreciate the very real advantages of a knowledge of the German language. Scientific men are unanimous that, to be an expert in science, one must know German. At the Rockfeller Institute for Medical Research there are twice as many reference works in German as in English. College students need to be reminded that in such subjects as history, philosophy, music and sociology, they are seriously handicapped without a working knowledge of German. Moreover, the close kinship between the English and Geman languages remain what it was, and no thorough knowledge of the history of our mother tongue is possible without knowing German. As to the literature, there is no sound reason why the political crimes of Germany should hinder us from studying their poets, any more than the cruelty of the Romans should keep us from Latin or the perfidy of the Athenians from Greek.

One of the outstanding results of the War, as Professor Fife of Wesleyan has well said, is that we Americans have entered a field of commercial competition where our equipment in the modern languages must be more practical and adequate than ever before. The war has left our competitors in England and on the Continent economically much poorer than we, but also with great capacity for self denial and thrift, so that the competition for markets is bound to be keen. With the wave of democracy sweeping over the world and the ever swifter movement of world-events, the Germany of 1925 is bound to be a changed Germany from that of 1914. In view of all this and of the act that about a hundred million people in the world speak German as their mother tongue, it is evident that German cannot be spared from the curriculum. It is the patriotic duty of the colleges to see to it that our college graduates enter the competition as well equipped for it linguistically as their rivals are.

EVERETT SKILLINGS

Keep Your Pledge

During the next few weeks the students of Middlebury will be scattered far and wide. Many have made pledges to support the War Savings movement recently organized in Middlebury. The important thing is that in the vacation months you do not forget your pledge. I want to appeal to all to remember that the systematic saving and purchasing of War Savings and Thrift Stamps is to go on regularly through the year, not merely while you are in College. This campaign is a serious and far-reaching one carried on by the Treasury Department of the United States. It means something for you to be associated with it, and to help it along by precept and practice. Let us all help to show the State of Vermont and our Nation how Middlebury students can keep a pledge.

DUANE L. ROBINSON,
Middlebury College Director War Savings.

An Answer

Dear Editor,

I wish to offer in your columns an explanation as to the apparent disappearance of the service flag, and an assurance that it will be displayed as soon as possible. Last January the girls of the senior class offered to have the number on the flag corrected, and carried out their obligation at their own expense. The company to whom the flag was sent for construction did not arrange the blue stars in accordance with the order, and a gold star added after its return was not satisfactory. The senior class left the flag with the War Service Committee as the natural agency for making further alterations if any should be deemed necessary.

At a meeting of the W. S. C. last Friday action was taken upon the matter and as a result the flag is in the hands of a competent seamstress who will make the final permanent arrangement of the stars.

A Member of the W. S. C.

To The Bath Fiends!

Dear Editor:

During the recent heat spell one or two of the less thoughtful men who live in Painter Hall made conditions there unpleasant for the others. Owing to the fact that the water for the showers is heated separately for the "inmates" of that dormitory, there is only a limited supply of hot water at any particular time. The above-mentioned few, desiring to escape the excessive heat, took to the showers two and three times each day, allowing the water to run long enough to make it impossible for the others to have even warm water for a shower.

The warm days are returning shortly and everyone will want to have a little warm water for a few minutes each day. If the thoughtless few will curtail their number of showers from three to one and allow the water to run only four or five minutes there will be enough for everyone to enjoy.

Have A Heart.

Our Exchange

Dear Editor,

I wonder how many of your readers realize what a very good list of exchanges The Campus has? It was quite by accident that I happened to read several of them last week, and I understand from members of The Campus Board that the college as a whole is not at all quick to take advantage of the office hours and look over the other college and school publications. It's worth while for us at Middlebury to get another's point of view occasionally, so look over the exchanges. You'll find it worth your while.

One Who Knows.

War Service Committee

At the War Service Committee meeting Friday at four o'clock, means were discussed for taking care of the correspondence through the summer. A list of all the men overseas or on shipboard is to be posted soon. Volunteers are called for to take one name apiece. If you are interested in any man please come early so that you may get his name. Let's finish up with a rush and show the men across seas that we are going to stick to the end. The correspondence is to continue through the summer, or until your man comes home.

In the absence of any body to take charge of the College Service Flag the Committee voted to pay the cost of rearranging the stars, and changing the number to include all who entered the service since the last change. The flag is now in the hands of a flagmaker and will be hung by the Committee as soon as the work is finished, which will be before Commencement.

The subject of a memorial was also brought up. It is understood that plans are under discussion for a memorial. The War Service Committee will probably vote its surplus money for such a fund when it disbands this June.

Thrift Clubs To Be Organized

Following a talk given by Joel J. Lamere on organizing by groups for the purpose of buying regularly War Savings Stamps and Thrift Stamps, a representative from each of the women's sororities and the Independents met to discuss the matter. The following committee, Ella Fellowes, Helen Stilphen, Louretta Haynes, Elizabeth Johnson and Mabel Hoyt, decided that each sorority should organize as a unit into a Thrift Club, and after consulting their respective groups, report that a very gratifying number of girls have pledged themselves to buy stamps regularly.

The men of the college have also organized into groups for the same purpose.

Professor Cady will deliver the Commencement address at the graduation exercises of the West Rutland High School on Thursday evening, June 12th, and at the Wilmington High School on the 19th.

NEW CONDITIONS FOR RHODES SCHOLARSHIP

A memorandum on the Rhodes Scholarships, that has just arrived, states the new conditions on which these scholarships are in future to be awarded. The qualifying examination that has hitherto been held in this country is discontinued, and "Scholars will be selected on the basis of their Collegiate or University record, supplemented, if necessary, by any further tests that the Committees of Selection may, in their discretion, impose." Election by the Committee of Selection "does not of itself give exemption from examinations required by Oxford University for any of its degrees." Consequently, candidates will still be limited to those men who have passed Preparatory School Latin, for no Oxford college will admit to candidacy for a degree men who have had less than that amount of Latin. This does not mean, of course, that men who come into college on Latin must pursue that language in college, nor does it imply any knowledge of Greek, since Oxford has recently abolished the Greek requirement for admission.

Each state is to have, as hitherto, a Committee of Selection. The names of the members of these committees are not yet stated, but " after July 31st it will be open to any candidate to ascertain the name and address of the Secretary for his State by writing to Prof. Frank Aydelotte, Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Massachusetts." The Committee of Selection elects one Rhodes Scholar for some particular year from a number of candidates furnished it by the colleges to which the candidates severally belong. A college with a total enrolment of less than 1,000 students may be represented in the competition for any one State by not more than two candidates." Candidates are selected by the college by any method it chooses to adopt.

The first election of Rhodes scholars will occur next October, when one man will be chosen as scholar for the year 1919, going to Oxford in October, 1920. In October 1920, another Scholar will be elected for the year 1920, going to Oxford in January 1921. No election will be held in Vermont in 1921, though students in Vermont colleges who have domicile in any state where elections are held may, of course, be candidates. A Scholarship is of the value of 300 pounds ($1500.) a year, and is tenable for three years. A candidate to be eligible, must be a citizen of the United States, with at least five years' domicile, and unmarried. He must, by the 1st of October of the year for which he is elected, have passed his 19th and not have passed his 25th birthday. Furthermore he must, by the 1st of October of the year for which he is elected, have completed at least his Sophomore year. Candidates may apply either for the State in which they have their ordinary private domicile, or for any State in which they may have received at least two years of their College education before applying.

State Committees of Selection will be instructed to bear in mind the suggestions of Mr. Rhodes, who wished that in the choice of his Scholars, regard should be had to literary and scholastic attainments, fondness for and success in outdoor sports, qualities of manhood, moral force of character, and leadership in school and college life.

At Oxford, Rhodes Scholars usually try to obtain the B. A. degree. Their work may, if they wish it, lie exclusively in any one of the following subjects: "Literae Humaniores" (Latin, Greek, Philosophy); Physics; Chemistry; Animal Physiology; Zoology; Botany; Geology; Astronomy; Engineering Science; Jurisprudence; Modern History; Theology; Oriental Subjects; English Language and Literature; Modern Languages (any one Language). "Moreover" credit can be obtained at Oxford for work done at a recognized American College or University. To obtain such credit, a Scholar must submit his academic record, showing clearly, courses taken and gradings obtained. Should it be necessary for him to re-

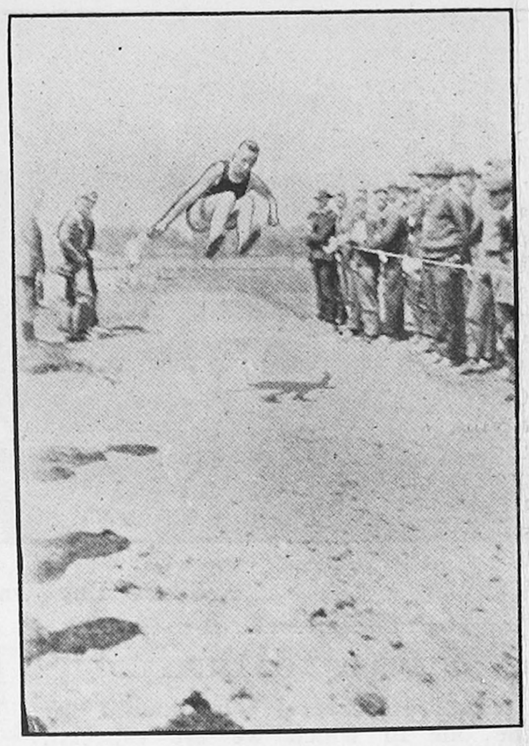
Jones Breaking Mile Record



Hebard Breaking Broad Jump Record

With the passing of Captain Jones and Hebard from track athletics by graduation, Middlebury college track team will lose two valuable men. Hebard was a "find" of Coach Brown in the winter months and with constant training has rounded into the best broad jumper that Midd has ever produced, and in fact into one of the best men in this event among the colleges of the east. This fact is substantiated by his placing second in both the Eastern and New England Intercollegiates. He has won the broad jump in every dual meet, and with Tatro has seen to it that Midd secured 8 points in the high jump. He broke the college broad jump record twice, the first time with a leap of 22 feet 1 inch and the second time by jumping an inch further, or 22 feet 2 inches.

"Casey" Jones, "the little Irishman from Vermont", as he was known in Springfield, is an old veteran at the running game. Coming to Middlebury with a reputation (as a track man), from Rutland High School, he has steadily improved and is today recognized as one of the best distance runners in the east. Since entering Midd he has amassed a total of 103 points in dual meets. His only defeat was in the M. A. C. meet in the two mile. In continually winning the half mile, one mile and two mile events in dual meets, He has proven himself to be an "Iron Man". Time and again he has lowered the mile and two mile records. At present his mile record is 4 min. 34 sec. and his two mile, 9 min. 54 sec. During this season he was high point-winner in every meet. Jones first became known throughout New England by running second in the 1916 Inter-collegiates at Springfield. For three years he has scored points at this meet, and by defeating Nightingale of N. H. State, national two mile title holder, in the mile this year proved his ability as a runner of high calibre. His crowning race, however, was when at Springfield two years ago, he lost by two inches in the mile race to John Overton, captain of Yale, and holder of the world's mile record indoors of 4 min. 16 sec.

The examinations scheduled for Monday afternoon will be held at 10:30, while those scheduled to take place at 10:30 will be held at 2:00 p. m.

BULLETIN TO BE ISSUED IN THE SUMMER

The announcement is made that Dr. Harrington cooperating with the Curriculum Committee, will have ready for publication some time in the summer, probably at the close of the Summer Session, a bulletin which will announce the courses and the instructors for next year. An item of special interest in connection with this bulletin is that each department will make a statement of its aims and that several arrangements of courses of study will be suggested for students intending to follow special lines of work.

While the details of these pre-vocational groupings of courses are not yet ready for publication it is understood that they will cover courses for teachers of English and History, General Science and Mathematics, Chemistry and Biology, Home Economics, Latin and Modern Languages, Chemistry and Physics, etc., while for students not intending to teach, special courses will be offered leading to Industrial Chemistry, Medicine, Engineering, Law, Public Service, Journalism, and Religious and Social Service Work. The general requirements for majors and minors, together with the special requirements for graduation and the distribution of requirements, will be met by the arrangements of these special courses.

It was originally the plan to publish this bulletin during the spring term, but in view of possible additions to the faculty and the extension of work in various departments it was deemed best to postpone it until later. Copies will be sent to all students and prospective freshmen.

The Sunday Noon Club held an indoor picnic in the Pi Phi and Tri-Delt rooms last Friday.

DELEGATES CHOSEN FOR SILVER BAY CONFERENCE

The following delegation will represent Middlebury at the Silver Bay Conference: Mildred Hubbard, Pauline Locklin, Estelle Foote, Lorette Thompson, Anne Littlefield, Alice Kirkpatrick, and Mildred Cole from the Y. W. C. A.; Alice Wilson from the Silver Bay Club; Elsa Holstrom from Student Government Association; Buena Anderson and Marion Crathern from the Athletic Association; Dorothy Nash and Fannie Lincoln.

NORWICH "Y" MAN LECTURES

Before a small but enthusiastic audience Secretary Oscar L. Whelan of the Norwich University Y. M. C. A gave an interesting illustrated lecture on the Northfield Student Conference last Friday evening in the Chemistry building. Though the number of Middlebury men who will atend the conference is still uncertain, as the result of Secretary Whelan's visit fully a dozen are considering spending a few days at Northfield with the view of re-establishing a branch of the Association here next fall.

DO YOU KNOW

1. That from seven to eight hundred leading men from practically all of the larger eastern colleges will attend a Student Conference at East Northfield, Mass., June 20-30?

2. That the other Vermont colleges, Norwich and U. V. M., are sending delegates of fifteen and twenty men, respectively?

3. That Middlebury is about the only college in New England that has not yet notified the proper authorities as to how many, if any, delegates they will send to this Conference?

4. That John R. Mott will make a special trip to America from the Peace Conference at Europe to speak and preside at some of the meetings of the Conference?

5. That a group of thinkers and leaders such as have in all probability never before gathered together to speak to students will be there?

6. That the South American Republics, China, Japan and many other foreign countries will be represented by wide-a-wake and educated delegates whose point of view may be obtained by personal acquaintance with them?

7. That a splendid vacation, a broadening experience, a new outlook on life, a chance to meet some of the greatest thinkers of the day—in short an education which no one can afford to miss, all may be obtained for but the twenty-five or thirty dollars necessary to cover personal expenses?

HAVE YOU any pride or interest in your college?

HAVE YOU any desire to broaden your own mind?

HAVE YOU any interest in humanity or Christianity?

IF YOU HAVEN'T, forget these facts which you have just read and skip the rest of the reading matter on this page.

WHAT IS NORTHFIELD?

There are several "Northfield's" but the one in which we are especially interested just now is located just below the point where the states of Vermont, New Hampshire and Massachusetts meet. Strictly speaking the Student Conference, announcements of which have been filling the front pages of the intercollegiate press for some time now, is located not at Northfield but at East Northfield which is just across the river from the first named place.

Annually for thirty-three years intercollegiate conferences have been held at this place at which students from the majority of the largest New England institutions have been represented. Moral and religious questions were discussed under the leadership of live-wire thinkers, college man exchanged views and ideas with college man, new opinions and ideals were created in many, and the delegates were imbued with a better understanding of the work of true Christianity and a broader and more tolerant mind.

The aim of the program this year is to bring the most vivid, direct and compelling messages from those who by first-hand experience of life are qualified to speak to students. There will be full opportunity for discussion in order that men may come to independent and fearless conviction. It is expected that such frank facing of world obligations will result in immediate scrutiny of the social standards existing on the college campus and point the way to a new undergraduate life which if "writ large" may be worthy of the New World; democratic, earnest, really Christian.

WHO'S GOING?

Practically all of the New England colleges will be represented at the Conference. Following are given the goals of a number of the institutions: Colby, 10; Bowdoin, 10; U. of Maine, 15; Brown, 25; Clark, 10; Wesleyan, 35; Yale, 100; Harvard, 75; Dartmouth, 15; Lowell, 10; U. V. M., 20; Worcester Poly., 20; Conn. "Aggie", 10; R. I. State, 10; M. A. C., 20; Norwich, 15.

These delegates include in practically every case the biggest men in the respective colleges. Such men as Krogness, the famous Harvard hurdler and sprinter, Kirkman, Princeton's star pitcher, and others will be there. Yale's delegation alone already includes such men as H. M. Ross, crew manager; DeF. Van Slyke, captain of the basketball team; R. Haddon, chairman of the Yale Daily News; C. H. Heminway, editor of the News, and J. M. Hinckes, captain of the championship swimming team.

WHO WILL SPEAK?

Of course the most famous speaker who will attend the Conference is Dr. John R. Mott, who has won world fame by his wonderful and self-sacrificial work for the Y. M. C. A.

Perhaps the most interesting discussions will be led by J. Stitt Wilson, labor leader, lecturer on social themes, and friend of students as well as the unprivileged classes. Among the subjects of his discussion will be "Jesus Christ the Source of Democracy"; "What is the Master-Principle of Democracy?"; "How Can Consecrated Heroes be Found for the New Day?"

To all the students of New England colleges no one is better known as a public speaker, leader in religious thought and personal friend than Prof. Charles R. Brown, LL.D., Dean of Yale School of Religion. He has been called the leading citizen of New Haven and is a state leader of some note. Dean Brown's specialty at the Conference is to answer questions that cause doubts in the students' mind. It is hoped that he will be able to stay at Northfield for several days, in order to have time to hold many persona. interviews with the delegates.

As a running mate to Dr. Brown, no better man than Dr. Robert E. Speer could be selected. Dr. Speer is head of the Presbyterian Board of Foreig Misions. Sharing with Aaron Burr the highest academic honors ever accorded by Princeton University, Dr. Speer has kept up his scholarship to a remarkable degree, and his addresses always show the result of profound, intimate and accurate knowledge. He has made many tours to all parts of the world, and is a specialist on educational and religious conditions in South America.

Among the leaders in thought in China, the Hon. David Yui holds a prominent place. His presence at Northfield at this time is most opportune, as he will give considerable light on the harassing political questions that have arisen in the far East, as well as a presentation of changes in religious thought that are going on in China and Japan.

Capt. John MacNeill, who served for eighteen months with the Canadian Army, is another renowned scholar who will be at the Conference. He brings a message of future relationship between Great Britain and America.

Other speakers are coming who will assure the highest type of addresses at every meeting. Among those who deserve particular mention are Robert P. Wilder, founder of the British Student Movement, Henry Coffin, of New York, and Charles W. Gilkey, of Chicago.

In addition to these men, leading professors from various colleges will conduct discussions on the Bible every morning. Middlebury may indeed feel proud that Dr. Lawrence has been asked to be one of these leaders.

WHAT ABOUT RECREATION?

Athletics and outdoor exercises will not be neglected at the Conference for recreation has come to be more than having a good time. The increased recognition of its value on the part of college authorities, as well as the plac given to it in all social work and in the American army, suggests that its place in the Northfield program should be educational. At the same time, the opportunity for expression of college loyalty and the maintenance of the best possible physical condition will be maintained.

In addition to the regular events such as the series of baseball games, tennis tournaments and track meet, a part of the afternoon of each day will be devoted to mass games and recreative contests which have been used in the army and which are adapted to boys' clubs and general community service. The aim will be to have every member of the Conference participate and further train such of the delegates as desire it in the use of recreation in social work.

Another form of recreation which has been very popular in the past is hiking to surrounding parts of the country. Northfield is thought by many to be one of the most beautiful spots in New England and a lover of nature might spend his afternoons wandering through the nearby forests or over the mountain.

HOW ABOUT EXPENSE?

The items of expense are: program fee, $5; board and lodging, total for full time, $15; for less than full time, $2 per day (the sum total in no case to exceed $15); and railroad fare to and from Conference, subtracting the special ten per cent discount allowed by the railroad companies, $7 ($3.50 one way). In case a Middlebury student left here on Tuesday, the day following Commencement, it can be seen that only ten or twelve dollars would be needed for board and room while twenty-five or thirty dollars would easily cover all expense.

The New England delegates, with the exception of Yale, will probably stay at Gould Hall, a dormitory in many respects similar to Hepburn.

Names of prospective delegates and their registration fee must be in by Friday.

Further detailed information may be obtained from Kasper, Huggard, Pitkin or Reid.

Intercollegiate Items

The Dartmouth attributes a large degree of the success of the Green baseball aggregation this year to the effective work of the cheer leaders. A Dartmouth alumnus has offered to establish a permanent endowment fund for the purpose of providing some kind of an annual award to the man or men contributing most to the effectiveness of Dartmouth cheering.

The college profesors and instructors of the University of Illinois have united in forming a union called Local No. 1, and have applied for admision to the American Federation of Labor, thus marking the first attempt at the formation of a labor union among college teachers.

The University of Kansas seems about to adopt an honor system controlled by the students. The outstanding features of the plan as submitted are that every student is to sign a pledge binding himself to honor the plan, to report any violation of the system, optional presence of the instructor at examinations and a penalty for violation of the rules, which penalty will be determined by a student committee elected by the student body.

The semi-centennial celebration of the founding of Cornell University is to be held June 20 to 30.

NEW CONDITIONS FOR RHODES SCHOLARSHIPS

move any "conditions", arrangements will be made making it possible for him to do so before coming into residence." The memorandum further states that 300 pounds will no longer meet all expenses, and that even with economy, a Scholar must be prepared to supplement his Scholarship from private sources, possibly to the extent of 50 pounds a year.

The effect of the changed requirements should be to interest a larger number of men in these Scholarships. Heretofore candidates have been faced with an examination containing papers in Latin and Greek. Consequently few men who had not kept up their Classics in college dared compete. Now there is no reason why any man, with a good academic record and his Preparatory School Latin behind him, should not stand quite as good a chance of election as anybody else.

K. D. R., Chi Psi, and D. K. E. Teams Win in Inter-fraternity Games

Three Inter-fraternity baseball games were played last week a surprise being sprung by the K. D. R. team when it trimmed the D. U. nine.

In the first game, on Wednesday afternoon, the Chi Psi team with Kelley in the box proved to be too strong for the Independents, taking them into camp in a one-sided affair. Only two hits were made off Kelley, one of them being a home-run clout by "Jack" White. The Chi Psi's made their runs by good-hitting aided by the poor fielding of their opponents.

Chi Psi	0	3	1	1	3	0	—8
Independents	0	1	0	0	0	0	—1

On Thursday the D. K. E. and Alpha Sig. balltossers held forth the former triumphing 8-6. The features of the game were the clouting and wild base-running of both teams.

The K. D. Rs. showed good form on Friday when they came out on top by the score of 9-5 after an encounter with the D. Us. Both pitchers were hit rather freely, Hebard, of the D. U.'s connecting for a homer and a three-bagger in his two trips to the plate. The K. D. R. nine showed up well in the field being charged with only four misplays against six for the D. U.'s.

At the Sophomore Class elections held in the Hemicycle yesterday afternoon, Lorimer Brown and Florence Langley, were elected Editor and Assistant Editor-in-chief of next year's Kaleidoscope board. William Cohen and Emma Schaefer were chosen Business and Assistant Business managers.

Dr. Collins preached the baccalaureate sermon at the Orleans, Vt., High School on Sunday.

'VARSITY TENNIS TO START SATURDAY

The first 'Varsity tennis team ever to represent the Blue and White on the day court will stage its initial contest this Saturday with Worcester Tech as its opponents.

Midd's representatives in the singles and doubles have not yet been selected but they will be chosen from a squad picked by Coach Brown this week and consisting of the following men: Jones '19, Hollbrook '19, Parker '20, Rothermel '20, Ginsburg '20, Gollnick '22, Brautigam '22.

Worcester Tech. is represented this year by a formidable set of racquet wielders but Middites may rest assured that the four who will represent the Blue and White will be fully able to cope with the opposition.

Kellogg Prize Contest Held Saturday

The examination for the Kellogg Latin-English Prize was held Saturday afternoon in the Latin room, twelve persons trying out for the prizes which are fifteen dollars and ten dollars. The work consisted in translating an Ode of Horace and writing an essay upon it. This year is the first time that the prize has been offered as it was established too late for last year's Horace class. Dr. Kellogg, the donor of the prizes is expected here soon and will probably be one of the judges. The winners will be announced Class Day.

Dance Given by Delta Kappa Epsilon

A very pretty formal dance was given by Alpha Alpha of Delta Kappa Epsilon in the McCullough Gymnasium last Saturday evening. The overhead decorations were of red, gold, and blue and ferns were banked along the walls. A unique touch was added to the event by the burning of incense. The patrons and patronesses were Professor and Mrs. Robinson, Professor and Mrs. Voter, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher, Mrs. Mason and Professor Stevens. The music was furnished by the Dartmouth orchestra.

A Student Government meeting was called Friday afternoon at 1:15. An open discussion took place, the subject being the new constitution and rules of the Association. Several suggestions and changes were presented. With these corrections the constitution is to be presented to Faculty Advisory Board for approval.

The last Y. W. C. A. meeting of this college year was held Thursday evening in Pearsons social hall. The speaker, who was Miss Reynolds, a former world secretary of the Association, interested the girls with a talk on the international work that the organization is doing. Every one enjoyed hearing Miss Reynolds and it is hoped that she will be able to speak to us next year. The musical number of the meeting was furnished by Margaret Billings, who sang a solo, "A Perfect Prayer."

The twenty-one members of Alpha Chi sorority spent the week-end at Camp Sur-le-lac, Lake Champlain, as the guests of Mary L. Smith '20. The trip to and from the Lake was made in auto trucks. "The best time ever" is reported by those who made up the party.

The "Zanzibars" entertained at Lake Dunmore last Tuesday. Boating, bathing, and dancing were enjoyed. An enjoyable time was had by all.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL ELECTIONS TUESDAY

Athletic Council members: Carpentier, Jenne, Lee, Miske, Parker, E. Ross.

Following the chapel service Tuesday morning the undergraduate body of the men's college elected six members to the Athletic Council and adopted unanimously the proposed constitution for the Kaleidoscope.

The men elected will serve during the ensuing college year.

The Latin Of The Summer Session

What! Such a dry personage as this two thousand year old language mother on hand again, when her two lively and up-to-date daughters, La France and Hispania are going to talk so mellifluously and so charmingly to us during July and August! Will she not be somewhat out of place and quite antiquated in such literary environment and hearing such modern dialects?

And that suggests a new view-point in some quarters with regard to this old speech of Caesar, Cicero, and Vergil. Pursued through all these years for the melody of its verse, the strength and verve of its prose, the influence of its thought in literature, art, philosophy, and the beginnings of science, it is now estimated at a new value, namely, its worth as a background for the study of the Romance Languages. It, of course, was known long ago as a most convenient and desirable preparation for the Spanish, the Italian, and the French, but a re-estimate of the last few years seems to rate it of higher worth in this function than had previously been assigned. Furthermore, in some of the schools it is frankly studied as an aid to the syntax and the vocabulary of our own language. And there are text-books being made with this purpose in view. There will be no quarrel then between the Language schools this summer and the mother dialect. For even the English, with its sixty to seventy per cent Latin vocabulary is looking back to Latin for inspiration.

But the Summer School Latin will not, this time, be vocational, nor pedagogical. Rather, it will be an attempt to hear a bit of the far away lilt of the music of Horace, Catullus, the later lyrists, and even some of the hymns of the early centuries. It is surprising how much of the imagery of our own verse is anticipated in these verses of the Roman writers of the Silver Age, and even of those who lived when "the Forum roared no longer" and when "every purple Caesar's dome" was beginning to crumble.

the painstaking work of the last few weeks are becoming evident, and predicts an amateur performance of unusual merit. It is particularly gratifying that the performance will be sung by College students without the assistance of soloists from outside, which is very unusual in amateur performances. We are assured that the chorus "will speak for themselves" when the curtain rises.

Through the assistance of Dr. Burrage and Miss Young who have devoted much time and effort to perfecting the stage work of the production, a performance has been worked out which will move with unusual speed and smoothness. Some very attractive dances have been arranged by Miss Young and they will undoubtedly prove a decided "feature" of the evening.

The advance sale of seats began on Monday of this week at Frost's drug store and latest reports are that they are being taken up rapidly, one hundred tickets having been sold Monday morning alone.

rain falling during the entire meet, these three men secured a tie for fifth place with Holy Cross. Hebard secured second in the broad jump, Potratz won the discus and Jones the mile run. In winning the mile, Jones furnished the surprise of the meet by defeating Nightingale of N. H. State who is the holder of the national two mile record. Colgate won the meet, Stevens was second, N. H. State, third, and Boston College, fourth. This meet undoubtedly was the biggest advertisement of Midd that any of her 1918-'19 teams have given. A fact of interest was that Midd took three men, while Colgate, N. H. State, Holy Cross, Boston College, Stevens, Springfield and M. A. C. ten to fifteen each.

May 17 St. Lawrence was defeated at Canton, N. Y., 65 1-3 to 60 2-3. Rain fell during the morning which made the field slippery and the track soft. The meet was won in the last event when Midd's discus throwers took all three places. Jones broke the college mile record and won the two mile and half mile as in the Tufts meet. Robinson made 14 points and Hebard 10. The trip was made in automobiles.

Middlebury sent four men to the England Intercollegiates at Boston on May 24. The showing made at this meet was the poorest of the season. With 18 colleges present Midd tied for tenth place with Tufts and Amherst. M. I. T. easily won the meet with 37 points, while Wesleyan took second and N. H. State third. Hebard captured second place in the broad jump and Potratz third in the hammer. Howe was disqualified in the hammer by fouling, and Jones had an off day and was able to place only fifth in the mile which was won in the time of 4 min. 28 seconds.

May 30 Middlebury lost her first track meet in four years to M. A. C. by a score of 59 to 58. As M. A. C. had no hammer men, that event was omitted and so the meet was lost. New broad jump and mile records were made by Hebard and Jones. Incidentally Jones suffered his first defeat in a dual meet when Carpenter won the two mile run. Jones came back and won the half and was high point winner with 13 points.

The season closed with an interclass meet which was won by the Seniors with the Freshmen a close second, the Sophomores third and the Juniors fourth. Potratz set a college discus record of 115 feet 1 inch.

In the dual meets Midd scored 186 5-6 total points to her opponants 182 1-6. She secured 21 firsts (1 tie), 16 seconds (3 tie), 22 thirds (2 tie). The following new records were set—Jones in the 1 mile 4 min. 34 sec., Hebard in the broad jump, 22 feet 2 inches and Potratz in the discus throw, 115 feet 1 inch.

sets necessary to decide the match, on the following afternoon.

In the first set neither man showed any good tennis, each apparently wary of the other and afraid to let out. Brautigam took the set after the games had run to deuce at 8 all by virtue of some clever placement shots in the last two games. In the next set, however, Gollnick found himself and starting with a rush sweeping Brautigam off his feet. Again in the third set Gollnick displayed some good tennis and playing a strong net game which his opponent could not fathom, he won with ease by a score of 6-0. The fourth set was a duplicate of the second and third, Brautigam being hopelessly outclassed by the western youth who played a sterling game.

The victory makes Gollnick college champ and since he is only in his freshman year he will no doubt have plenty of opportunities in the next few years to defend his title.

against the Conn. "Aggies" on Thursday leaving Jim Geddes to face the Trinity batsmen in the last game of the trip.

The Conn. "Aggies" defeated Middlebury here two weeks ago but the Blue and White are out for revenge and are confident that they can defeat the "Nutmeg" farmers in the second game of the series. Trinity has had a very unsuccessful season and Midd should not find much difficulty in registering a victory at Hartford.

Philip S. Andrews '12 was a guest of Wayne M. Haller over the week-end.

The election of the members of next year's Sophomore Rules Committee was held yesterday afternoon in the Old Chapel. Those elected were: H. Brown, Horner, Kelly, Cabot, J. White and Norton.
